6. The designated airline(s) of one Party shall have the right to use airways, airports and other facilities provided by the other Party on a non-discriminatory basis.

Article 3

Designation and Authorisation of Airlines

1. Each Party shall have the right to designate an airline or airlines for the purpose of operating the agreed services on the specified routes and to withdraw or alter such designations. Such designations shall be made in writing and transmitted to the other Party through diplomatic channels and shall identify whether the airline is authorised to conduct the type of air services specified in the Annex.

2. Upon receipt of such designation and application from the designated airline(s) of either Party, in the form and manner prescribed for the purpose, the Aeronautical Authorities of the other Party shall grant the appropriate operating authorisation with minimum procedural delay, provided that:

- (a) substantial ownership and effective control of that airline are vested in the Party designating the airline or its nationals;
- (b) the designated airline is qualified to meet the conditions prescribed under the laws and regulations normally applied to operation of international air services by the Party considering the application; and
- (c) the Party designating the airline is maintaining and administering the standards set forth in Article 9 and Article 10 of this Agreement.

Article 4

Revocation or Suspension of Operating Authorisation

3. This Article does not limit the rights of either Party to withhold, revoke, limit or impose conditions on the operating authorisation of an airline of the other Party in accordance with the provisions of Article 10 of this Agreement.

Article 5

Principles governing operation of Agreed Services

1. There shall be fair and equal opportunity for the designated airlines of both Parties to operate the agreed services on the specified routes between their respective territories.

2. The capacity to be provided and the frequency of services to be operated by the designated airline(s) of each Party shall be agreed between both Parties.

3. Any increase in the capacity to be provided and the frequency of services to be operated by the designated airline(s) of each Party shall be subject to agreement between both Parties. Pending such an agreement or settlement, the capacity and frequency entitlements already in force shall prevail.

4. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the designated airline(s) of each Party shall be entitled to operate any number of all-cargo services between each other's territory with any type of aircraft with full 3rd, 4th and 5th freedom traffic rights regardless of the points specified in the Route Schedule annexed to this Agreement. Such all-cargo services may also be operated under co-operative marketing arrangements such as code sharing, blocked space, etc. with any other airline(s), including airlines of third countries.

Article 6

Application of Laws

1. While entering, within, or leaving the territory of one Party, its laws, regulations and procedures relating to the operation and navigation of aircraft shall be complied with by the designated airline(s) of the other Party.

While entering, within, or leaving the territory of one Party, its laws, regulations and procedures relating to the admission into or departure from its territory of passengers, baggage, crew or cargo on aircraft (including regulations relating to entry, clearance, aviation security, immigration, passports, customs, currency, health, sanitary and quarantine or, in the case of mail, postal regulations) shall be complied with by, or on behalf of, such passengers, crew or shippers of cargo of the designated airline(s) of the other Party.

3. Neither Party shall give preference to its own or to any other airline over a designated airline of the other Party engaged in similar international air services in the application of the laws and regulations and procedures provided for in this Article.

4. Passengers, baggage and cargo in direct transit across the territory of either Party, and not leaving areas of the airport reserved for such purpose shall be subject to no more than a simplified control, except in respect of security measures against violence, air piracy, narcotics control, etc.

Article 7

User Charges

1. User charges that may be imposed by the competent charging authorities of each Party on the designated airline(s) of the other Party shall be just, reasonable, non-discriminatory, and equitably apportioned among all categories of users. Such user charges shall be assessed on the designated airline(s) of the other Party on terms not less favourable than the terms available to any other airline at the time the charges are assessed.

2. User charges imposed on the designated airline(s) of the other Party may reflect, but shall not exceed, the full cost to the competent charging authorities of providing the appropriate airport, environmental, air navigation and aviation security facilities and services at the airport or within the airport system. Such full cost may include a reasonable return on assets, after depreciation. Facilities and services for which charges are made shall be provided on an efficient and economic basis.

3. Each Party shall encourage consultations between the competent charging authorities in its territory and the designated airline(s) using the services and facilities. Each Party shall encourage the competent charging authorities and the airlines to exchange such information as may be necessary to permit an accurate and transparent review of the reasonableness of the charges in accordance with the principles stated in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article. Each Party shall encourage the competent charging authorities to provide users with reasonable notice of any proposal for changes in the user charges to enable the users to express their views before changes are implemented.

4. Neither party shall be held, in dispute resolution procedures pursuant to Article 20 of this Agreement, to be in breach of a provision of this Article, if:

(a) it has undertaken a review of the charge or practice that is the subject of complaint by the other Party within a reasonable time; and

(b) following such a review, it has taken all steps within its power to remedy any charge or practice that is inconsistent with this Article.

Article 8

Customs Duties and Charges

1. Each Party shall, on the principle of reciprocity, exempt the designated airline(s) of the other Party to the fullest extent possible under its national law from customs duties, excise taxes, inspection fees and other national duties and charges on aircraft, fuel, lubricating oils, consumable technical supplies, spare parts including engines, regular aircraft equipment, aircraft stores (including but not limited to such items of food, beverages and liquor, tobacco and other products destined for sale or to be used solely in connection with the operation or servicing of aircraft) and other items such as printed ticket stock, air waybills, any printed material which bears the insignia of the company printed thereon and usual publicity material distributed free of charge by the designated airline(s).
2. The exemptions under this Article shall be granted only if the items referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article are:
 - (a) introduced into the territory of one Party by or on behalf of the designated airline(s) of the other Party; or
 - (b) retained on board aircraft of the designated airline(s) of one Party upon arrival in or leaving the territory of the other Party; or
 - (c) taken on board aircraft of the designated airline(s) of one Party in the territory of the other Party for use in operating the agreed services.
3. The exemptions under this Article shall apply regardless of the fact whether or not such items are used or consumed wholly within the territory of the Party granting the exemption, provided the ownership of such items is not transferred in the territory of the said Party.
4. The regular airborne equipment, as well as the materials and supplies normally retained on board the aircraft of the designated airline(s) of either Party, may be unloaded in the territory of the other Party only with the approval of the customs authorities of that Party. In such a case, they may be placed under supervision of the said authorities up to such time as they are re-exported or dealt with under the customs approved procedure in accordance with the customs regulations.

Article 9

Safety

1. Either Party may request consultations concerning the safety standards maintained in respect of an airline designated by the other Party relating to aeronautical facilities, aircrews, aircraft and operation of the designated airline. Such consultations shall take place within 30 days of the request or any longer period as may be agreed between the Parties.

2. If, following such consultations, one Party finds that safety standards in the areas referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article that meet the standards established at that time in accordance with the Convention are not effectively maintained and administered in respect of airline(s) designated by the other Party, the other Party shall be notified of such findings and the steps considered necessary to conform with these minimum standards, and the other Party shall take appropriate corrective action.

3. Each Party reserves the right to suspend or limit the operating authorization of an airline designated by the other Party in the event the other Party does not take appropriate corrective action within 30 days from the date of the notification specified in paragraph 2 of this Article.

4. It is agreed that any aircraft operated by an airline of one Party on services to or from the territory of the other Party may, while within the territory of the other Party, be made the subject of an examination by the authorized representatives of the other Party, on board and around the aircraft to check both the validity of the aircraft documents and those of its crew and the apparent condition of the aircraft and its equipment (in this Article called "ramp inspection"), provided this does not lead to unreasonable delay.

5. If any such ramp inspection or series of ramp inspections give rise to:

- (a) serious concerns that an aircraft or the operation of an aircraft does not comply with the minimum standards established at that time pursuant to the Convention; or
- (b) serious concerns that there is a lack of effective maintenance and administration of safety standards established at that time pursuant to the Convention;

the Party carrying out the inspection shall, for the purposes of Article 33 of the Convention, be free to conclude that the requirements under which the certificate or licences in respect of that aircraft or in respect of the crew of that aircraft had been issued or rendered valid or that the requirements under which that aircraft is operated are not equal to or above the minimum standards established pursuant to the Convention.

6. In the event that access for the purpose of undertaking a ramp inspection of an aircraft operated by an airline of one Party in accordance with paragraph 4 of this Article is denied by a representative of that airline, the other Party shall be free to infer that serious concerns of the type referred to in paragraph 5 of this Article arise and draw the conclusions referred to in that paragraph.

7. Each Party reserves the right to suspend or vary the operating authorization of an airline or airlines of the other Party immediately in the event the first Party concludes, whether as a result of a ramp inspection, a series of ramp inspections, a denial of access for ramp inspection, consultation or otherwise, that immediate action is essential to the safety of an airline operation.

8. Any action by one Party in accordance with paragraphs 3 or 7 of this Article shall be discontinued once the basis for taking that action ceases to exist.

Article 10

Aviation Security

1. In accordance with their rights and obligations under international law, both Parties reaffirm that their obligation to each other to protect the security of civil aviation against acts of unlawful interference forms an integral part of this Agreement. Without limiting the generality of their rights and obligations under international law, the Parties shall in particular act in conformity with the provisions of the Convention on Offences and Certain other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft, done at Tokyo on September 14, 1963, the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Seizure of Aircraft, done at The Hague on December 16, 1970, the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation, done at Montreal on September 23, 1971 and its Protocol done at Montreal on February 24, 1988, the Convention on the Marking of Plastic Explosives for the Purpose of Detection, opened for signature at Montreal on 1 March 1991, as well as any other Convention on aviation security to which both Parties become members.
2. Upon request, both Parties shall provide each other with all necessary assistance to prevent acts of unlawful seizure of civil aircraft and other unlawful acts against the safety of such aircraft, of their passengers and crew, of airports and air navigation facilities, and address any other threat to the security of civil air navigation.
3. Both Parties shall, in their mutual relations, act in conformity with all aviation security standards and appropriate recommended practices established by the International Civil Aviation Organization and designated as Annexes to the Convention; they shall require that operators of aircraft of their registry, operators of aircraft who have their principal place of business or permanent residence in their territory and the operators of airports in their territory act in conformity with such aviation security provisions.
4. Each Party agrees to observe the security provisions required by the other Party for entry into and departure from the territory of that other Party and to take adequate measures to protect aircraft and to inspect passengers, crew, and their baggage and carry-on items, as well as cargo and aircraft stores, prior to and during boarding or loading. Each Party shall also give positive consideration to any request from the other Party for special security measures to meet a particular threat.
5. When an incident or threat of an incident of unlawful seizure of aircraft or other unlawful acts against the safety of passengers, crew, aircraft, airports or air navigation facilities occurs, both Parties shall assist each other by facilitating communications and other appropriate measures intended to terminate rapidly and safely such incident or threat.
6. When a Party has reasonable grounds to believe that the other Party has departed from the aviation security provisions of this Article, the Aeronautical Authorities of that Party may request immediate consultations with the Aeronautical Authorities of the other Party. Failure to reach a satisfactory agreement within 15 days from the date of such request shall constitute grounds to withhold, revoke, limit, or impose conditions on the operating authorisation of the designated airline(s) of that Party. When required by an emergency, either Party may take interim action prior to the expiry of 15 days.

7. Any action taken in accordance with paragraph 5 of this Article shall be discontinued upon compliance by the other Party with the provisions of this Article.

Article 11

3. Any airline of each Party may engage in the sale of air services and its ancillary products, services and facilities in the territory of the other Party directly and, at the airline's discretion, through its agents. For this purpose, the airline shall have the right to use its own transportation documents and any person shall be free to purchase such transportation and its ancillary products, services and facilities in the currency of that territory or in freely convertible currencies.
4. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 6 of this Article, the airline(s) of each Party shall have the right to convert and transfer freely in any convertible currency, on demand and after settling the tax obligations in accordance with the laws and regulations of the other Party, local revenues in excess of sums locally disbursed earned by such airlines in connection with the sale of air transportation and other ancillary products, services and facilities, as well as interest earned on such revenues (including interest earned on deposits awaiting transfer). Conversion and remittance shall be permitted promptly without restrictions in respect thereof at the rate of exchange applicable to current transactions and remittance on the date the airline makes the initial application for remittance.
5. The airline(s) of each Party shall be permitted to pay for local expenses, including purchase of fuel, in the territory of the other Party in local currency. At their discretion, the airline(s) of each Party may pay for such expenses in the territory of the other Party in freely convertible currencies in accordance with the national regulations of the other Party.

The capacity offered by the marketing airline(s) on such services shall not be counted against the capacity entitlement of the Party designating that airline.
5. The designated airline(s) of one Party may also enter into co-operative marketing arrangements with the designated airline(s) of the other Party to market services, beyond the point(s) of call, to the other points within the territory of the other Party (domestic code share), as specified on their respective Route Schedule, without exercising cabotage rights between these points.
6. The designated airline(s) of either Party shall be allowed to transfer traffic (i.e. starbust) between aircraft involved in the code share operations without restrictions as to number, size and type of aircraft.

If one Party believes that the tariff charged by designated airline(s) of the other Party is inconsistent with the considerations set forth in paragraph 3 of this Article, it shall notify the other Party of the reasons for its dissatisfaction as soon as possible and request consultations which shall be held not later than 30 days after receipt of the request. If the Parties reach an agreement with respect to the tariff for which a notice of dissatisfaction has been given, each Party shall use its best efforts to put that agreement into effect. In the absence of such an agreement, the previously existing tariff shall continue to be in effect.
